

ORGANIC FARM: HOME OF LATAH TOMATOES

Latah Seeds available by Mail, the Week-End Farm Store or the Avalon Mall Flea Market on Sundays. Order and Pay in Advance or get One Free Package by being part of our Growing Latahs Project this Season!

(1) Ordering By Mail.

Fifteen seeds per pack. Fifteen seeds should result in fifteen plants. The seeds are not expensive. The main cost is the packaging, handling, mailing and HST. You may want to order more than one package and give a package to a friend.

Growing Latahs Project.

The first ten people who request Latah Seeds will receive a package of seeds if they agree to be part of the Growing Latahs Project. Members of the project will agree to use an Organic Farm Data sheet to keep track of seeding and transplanting dates, weather and yields. The more regions of the province represented in this sample, the better. This information will be put on the Organic Farm Website for next Season. If Latahs are as productive for our climates as we think, we believe it will they will become an important crop to commercial farmers over time.

(2) Latah Plants:

Latah plants will be available at the On-Site, Gardening Centre by June 15th and the Canadian Tire Store on Elizabeth Avenue, St. John's. Outdoor planting is weather dependent and not recommended until late June unless the plants are protected from an unexpected late frost. (e.g. there was a killing frost on the Avalon Peninsula, June 28th, 2005)
